The Wing House: Bold design and lush gardens

and

Authentic creativity, sustainability + liveability

Epic Architecture is a 'full-service' architectural design agency. We're big enough to offer a full suite of creative and technical services from design, interiors and consulting... and we're small enough to ensure you receive the personalised care and attention to make your dream home everything you wish for.

E P I C U X

When it comes to home design, it's easy to focus solely on the aesthetics of a space. True liveability however, is so much more than just our sensory response to what we see.

The concept of UX (user experience) is a term we normally associate with how people use a website or an app. At Epic Architecture, we like to use it as a way to describe how we 'feel' about our home. How we engage with spaces and the way a home enhances our lives. The intangibles...

But they're not all intangibles are they! Small details (done poorly) can have massive ramifications. Sometimes they're just those pesky annoyances, and other times they can be expensive mistakes (think energy efficiency) or even potential safety hazards for you and your family. Thoughtful design and style has the power to make us happy. It's functional, beautiful, and accessible. So how do you get there? It starts with a conversation.

At Epic Architecture, our passionate design and support team take a hands-on approach to every project we undertake. We listen, we collaborate and then design utilising the latest 3D rendering technology to iterate design concepts during the sketch and concept phases of a project. Design workshops allow customers to experience their future home spaces via a 3D walk-thru, select palettes and materials in real-time and accurately plan interiors within the virtual environment. High resolution renders and virtual models accompany project documentation so that customers can experience, review and share their home design with stakeholders, friends and family before finalising construction documentation. At Epic Architecture, we make the design process collaborative, fun and immersive.

Architects and interior designers working together

Collaboration between architects and interior designers is essential to creating a cohesive and harmonious space that meets the needs and desires of the client. Architects focus on the structural and exterior elements of a building, while interior designers concentrate on the aesthetic and functional aspects of the interior. By working together, they integrate these two aspects to create a unified design that is both beautiful and functional.

Architects and interior designers bring different perspectives and skill sets to a project, and their collaboration can lead to innovative solutions and better outcomes. An architect may focus on the overall design concept and how it relates to the surrounding environment, while an interior designer may concentrate on color schemes, furnishings, and finishes that create a comfortable and functional space. By combining these two perspectives, the result is a design that is both visually pleasing and functional, with a seamless flow from the exterior to the interior. In short, collaboration between architects and interior designers is crucial to creating a successful project that meets the client's needs and exceeds their expectations.

Epic Architecture has the experience, design flair, passion and vision to make your dream home a reality. It just starts with that first conversation... and we make a decent coffee so there's no excuse!

Our small team of highly skilled and experienced professionals take a personalised approach to every project we undertake. We are committed to delivering exceptional results that exceed your expectations.

Architecture

Epic Architecture is a boutique architecture studio based in Armidale NSW specialising in high end residential architecture. We service the New England and North Coast regions of NSW. Our design philosophy is based on authentic creativity, sustainability and livability.

Being a registered architect is important because it demonstrates that the individual has met the professional standards and qualifications necessary to practice architecture and can provide assurance to clients that their projects will be handled competently.

Interior design

At Epic Architecture, we are pleased to include interior design services in our fee structure for your project. Interior Design Director, Kate Hadfield brings warmth and personality to every space she designs. Her unique vision and ability to understand clients' needs results in stunning and functional interiors that exceed expectations. Her attention to detail, use of colour and texture, and ability to seamlessly integrate form and function make her a valuable asset to our firm and your project.

The Collections

A new path to your architecturally designed home. The Collections are designed by a strong architecture and interior design team. You choose the design that best suits your needs, and work with the architecture and interior design team to curate the design to your aesthetic and specific site. With our innovative Epic model of pre-designed and fully resolved house designs, you will save valuable time in getting your house built.

Passive off-grid

Do you dream about living in a home that's off-the-grid and energy efficient? As well as helping achieve a net-zero lifestyle, you can eliminate many expenses and utility costs associated with home ownership and greatly increase the rewards of the investment in your home.

At Epic Architecture, we have the experience and passion to deliver the highest quality passive off-grid home designs.

THE TEAM

The Epic Architecture team of design professionals and support staff are friendly, collaborative and passionate about realising your dream home.

Jena is your go to for any and all questions and ideas regarding your project. You will find she is excited for almost anything and willing to entertain any kind of idea that may lead to a greater outcome!

We are so lucky to have another registered architect on the team, especially an absolute talent like Alesya.

NOTHING STOPS US FROM MAKING SURE YOU HAVE THE BEST EXPERIENCE POSSIBLE.

She is meticulous in her planning and extraordinary in her execution, and adds an incredible level of professionalism and creativity to our team.

As the lead interior designer in the Epic Architecture team, Kate is a talented and creative professional who brings warmth and personality to every space she designs.

Kiri is our assistant interior designer. She will be involved behind the scenes organising interior modeling, setting up the fixture and finish schedules.

Graham is our behind the scenes Director who, in his day job, is a computer engineer and programmer.

The friendliest voice you will hear on the phone all day or if you call into our office is Coley! Coley makes sure our team runs smoothly and has everything we need to be successful.

The Elegant Farm

The ranch project showcases the beautiful home built for a hardworking farming family on their station. The house was designed to accommodate a family of five. The primary objective was to create a passively designed house that could operate off-grid, with services connected to the house. STATUS: Nearing completion

The Wing House

This stunning two-story home is the gold star of the design studio, and for good reason. The house was designed with the brief of seeing and experiencing gardens from every aspect of the home, and it delivers on that promise with stunning results. The house features immaculate gardens that surround a lap pool and a racket ball court. STATUS: In construction

Regional Retreat

The house is partially off-grid and needed to be sited within a specific location on the block. The family's vision was to have a coastal vibe with a country house feel, which has been realised through multiple design workshops, where the client and architect collaborate closely to bring the vision to reality. STATUS: In construction

Farm Views

The client brief was short and sweet "I want a house over there" waving in the general direction of an open site surrounded by beautiful bushland. The site and orientation drove the scheme with heavy blade walls slicing the home programming and framing amazing section views. STATUS: In construction

The Tides

This beautifully designed coastal home is the epitome of relaxed, laid-back living. The house was designed with a strong connection to the landscape, with large windows and doors that offer stunning views of the surrounding natural beauty.

STATUS: In construction

The Village House

This client's brief was unique: A home resembling a Scandinavian fishing village set in the Australian bush on acreage in regional NSW. This client loves the modern rustic aesthetic and has strong ties with the Italian culture. An important feature is the connection and opportunity for private and social connections throughout this home.

STATUS: Approvals stage

Deco Revival

Turning this building from a run down and derelict office space to a beautifully sun lit family home has been one of the most rewarding projects we have worked on. The building is located in a heritage district and surrounded by beautiful historical buildings, and is the only building in the block that has been left unrevitalised.

STATUS: Council approved

Green Luxury

The house has a limitless connection to the gardens and an open kitchen living dining space that flows seamlessly to the outdoors, creating a beautiful indoor-outdoor living experience. The attention to detail in the design is impeccable, with custom-made joinery and beautiful finishes throughout the house.

INSPIRED BY

We would like to acknowledge the Anaiwan people who are the Traditional Custodians of this land on which we live and work. We pay respects to Elders past and present, and recognise their connection to the land.

At Epic Architecture, we pride ourselves on having a global design perspective. With project experience across the USA as well as Australia, we have unique insights into a wide gamut of aesthetics, regulations, technical requirements and design objectives.

Although we continue to work on projects globally, our hearts and spirits reside in the New England. Our team is inspired by its wild rivers, World-Heritage National Parks, gorges and plains. Four distinct seasons offers up a kaleidoscope of varied colour palettes, and in the cooler months, the warm romanticism of the region's fine wool heritage makes its mark on the soul.

New England extends from the western plains with hot summers, to temperate coastal climates, and then up to the high country where minus 10 degree winter mornings are not uncommon. We design homes to be supremely livable in all conditions. Our sustainability-led design ethic results in a lower environmental footprint, and reduced energy costs.

The Epic Architecture team draws from the regions' stunning natural beauty and rich indigenous and colonial heritage. Many of our clients moving into the region are making the ultimate 'tree change'; purchasing large blocks or small farms and then building their dream home. Our integrated architectural design and interior design team ensure a home that enhances everything people love about the New England region.
